The Sun's CUSD Board Meeting Report

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Carmel Unified School District Board of Education held its regular meeting on December 14 at the Carmel Middle School Library.

Patricia Condren took her seat as the new Board president, replacing Dan Hightower.

Board member Joe Jaconette reported on the storm damage to the schools which included blown out windows, downed wires and a tree which fell on a portable building at Carmel High School.

Mr. Jaconette further reported that the district intends to start a program this summer for gifted students in conjunction with Monterey Peninsula College and California State University at Monterey Bay.

This month the Board presented its first employee of the month awards. Joe Jaconette said this gave the Board an opportunity to recognize those people who go above and beyond the call of duty. Two categories will be recognized; certified, which are those with teaching credentials and classified, which pertains to the rest of the administrative and custodial staff. Lynn Archer received the certified employee of the month award with over 22 years of service as a teacher and councilor. Rose Sanches won the classified employee of the month award for her work in the purchasing department.

The Compatible Calendar Committee is an inter-district committee attempting to make regional school district calendars as similar as possible. In addition to convenience, this attempt to reconcile the calendars will save money in inter-district programs like special education and ROP. The Carmel Unified School District mailed 1,700 postcard questionnaires to parents asking them their opinion about the current calendar. 625 responses have been received thus far and 77% were in favor of the calendar as is. More specifically 61% were in favor of the current October break but many commented that they would like the October break pushed back or possibly

Pebble Beach's new Revised EIR open for citizen review

Forest property owners have an opportunity to provide comments, including their support or objections, on any part of the proposed subdivisions associated with Pebble Beach Company's plan for a new golf course and 350 residential lots. The Revised Draft EIR recommends a new "environmentally superior" alternative location for the golf course and new lots.

Copies of the Revised Draft EIR may be reviewed at: Pebble Beach Community Services District, Lopez and Forest Lake Roads; Coast Federal Bank near the Pebble Beach post office; Carmel and Pacific Grove libraries.

Written comments on the Revised Draft EIR should be mailed prior to January 12, 1996 (extended from December 28) to: Ms. J. R. Rose, Monterey County Planning and Building Inspection Department, P.O. Box 1208, Salinas, Ca. 93902. A copy may also be sent to: Mr. M.

Water District spends for weather information

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) has established its Carmel River Hotline for the 1995-96 winter season to provide information on the status of the Carmel River, especially for those who are concerned about possible erosion due to high flow. The hotline number is 649-1993.

Callers to the hotline will hear a recorded message that includes river flow measured at Esquiline (Rosie's) Bridge in Carmel Valley Village (USGS Robles del Rio gauge), observations of river and river bank conditions, and a summary of National Weather Service forecasts. This information will indicate whether the general erosion potential along the Carmel River is low or high. The hotline information will typically be updated on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and more frequently as storm conditions warrant.

It should be noted that the hotline information should be used as a general guideline about erosion potential. Property owners along the Carmel River should closely monitor their situation if they are concerned about erosion related damage on their property.

FUN IN THE SUN

Dave Lyon

The volunteer board at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center wishes to thank everyone here in the valley who came out to enjoy the 37th annual Santa Fly-In, held December 9. Once again the local Weathergods smiled upon us and Santa and Mrs. Claus were able to enjoy the best of Carmel Valley's sunshine and hospitality.

Special kudos to the following valley folk for all their help in making the Fly-In a success. Parade announcer Randy Randazzo for his wisdom, counsel and help with organizing. Skip Marquard and crew of the good ship "St. Nick" for the many years of safe air travel. Grand Marshals Stew and Sandy Clough for allowing us to recognize their years of service to the valley. Capt. Simms and the good men of your local fire department. CVCYC volunteer Merideth Manhard for her endless attention to detail.

And....more thanks to....CVCYC board members Nick Craft, Darrly Tyler, Steve Anderson, Rick Simms, Joe Hertlein, John Edwards, Curt Weise and Allen Hendersen. Further thanx to Bill Tarp, Jeff Jarvis, Lou Allaire, Tom McClune, Lee Rieman, Vicki Rugg and Carmel Valley Rec. and Park board member Ron Levora. Special thanks, several ear scratches and a belly rub to Zack and Molly Lyon for ridding the parade route of any leftover Christmas candy. Extra special thanks to Web and Alice Buckham.

Continued thanks to the many valley folks, local groups, clubs and organizations that were a part of the parade this year. Santa reports that he will gladly return to Carmel Valley next year for the 38th annual Fly-In; same time, same place. His only comment was that if the parade continues to get bigger, there won't be anyone left in the village to watch it.

Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District Board Prez Randy Randazzo wishes to extend his heartfelt thanks to the many folks who came out for the 3rd annual Community Park Christmas tree lighting ceremony. This year the Recreation and Park Board is marking ten years of service to the valley. Kudos to board members Sherri May, Dorothy McEwen, Kay Kirkland and Ron Levora. The Community Park tree and accompanying light display will remain up through the end of the year for everyone to enjoy.

Coming soon...to a local valley lodge near you...the return of the very popular and always extraordinarily tasty Village Affair. Yes, everyone's favorite evening of gastronomic delight and culinary creation will be held next month, on Monday, January 15th, at Los Laureles Lodge. This very exciting and always entertaining event will feature the best of local restaurants, wineries and catering services, plus live entertainment by valley favorites Pat Duval, Steve Tosh, Kathleen Tarp and Thomas Duckett.

As a special treat this year, the live auction portion of the evening will feature the talent of well known auctioneer Pete DeVries, who will be donating his services to this very worthy cause. This year the auction and live entertainment, as well as the

Carmel Valley Parks and Recreation lists new board/officers

Effective January 1, 1996, the Carmel Valley Recreation & Park District Board officers for 1996 will be President, Ron Levora, Vice President, Dorothy McEwen, Secretary, Kay Kirkland, Treasurer, Sherrie May. Immediate past President, Randy Randazzo also serves on the board.

County historic parks offer docent training for volunteers

California State Parks is offering docent training for the Monterey State Historic Park February 7-March 23, 1996. A mandatory orientation will be held at the State Park History Theatre in the Stanton Center, located next to Fisherman's Wharf, 6-7:30 p.m. on January 31.

Lectures meet seven Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m., and two Saturday field sessions from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Topics will cover period clothing, Monterey and California history, cultural influences, nautical heritage, preservation, interpretation, and tour techniques.

Docents will learn how to present outreach programs to schools and community groups, give historic garden tours, Path of History tours, and provide interpretation at the First Theatre, Custom House, Stevenson House and other Monterey State Historic Park buildings. Docents will be able to participate in living history days and other special events, such as Christmas in the Adobes, First Night, Adobe Tour Day and Preservation Day. Docents will also receive training so they can volunteer at the Lake El Estero Visitor's Center and the Cooper-Molera Store.

For more information and a Monterey SHP Docent Training application call Dave Schaechtele at 647-6204.

TOUCHING BASES

Peter Lyon

Some seconds from the minutes...The November 14 meeting of the CVLL Board produced the following: Sherry Hattori has been elected to the Board, and we congratulate her. The Salinas Peppers may be making blocks of tickets available to us (come watch CVLL alumnus Brian Stream working the bullpen as a catcher). Board meetings will henceforth be held on the second Thursday of the month, so please drop by.

And here are a few important new rules: 1) There will no longer be an "on-deck" circle and any injury resulting from failure to comply with this ruling will not be covered by Little League insurance. (Kid A swings a bat as if in an on-deck circle and thereby smacks Kid B who shouldn't have been out there either. Kid B pays for his own bandaids.)

2) Players who slide head first while advancing are out at the point of impact with the ground. 3) Try-outs are not optional for participation (by being drafted) at the major league level. Players who haven't tried out may not play on an all-star team, though this rule may be waived if the player is moved up during the season. If a player is moved up, that player must go. If the player insists on remaining at the lower level, he or she must switch to a different team at the same level.

Dates...Try-outs will be when they are announced. But we do know that Picture Day is March 30, and April 20 is scheduled for Opening Day. Of course, all you experienced CVLL fans know that try-outs and games actually start well ahead of Opening Day. Watch your mailbox and this space. Pam Priano is working, even as we speak, on the up-coming schedule.

Answers...Last time we popped you one of our trivia quizzes, and we promised the answers. Promises, promises. Because of a slipped disk our computer has temporarily lost the last edition of "Touching Bases". We absolutely guarantee the answers next time. We hope.

Solstice...A father visited the Little League park on a late fall noon. His sons had played there, graduating from T-ball at Tularcitos to the minors, to Double A, to the majors, and now one son on to Pony League and high school promise. The father wanted to feel what the park, empty a week away from winter, had to tell him.

The quiet was soft, welcoming. The cliff above the river lay in deep shadow, the sycamores along the banks glowed in the slanting light of mid-day. A slight breeze brought the subtle fragrance of wet earth, eucalyptus, the river flowing. Windrows of leaves, greens mixed in with the yellows and browns of the sycamores, crowded the fences for all the world like spectators, more at ease leaning on the rail than settled in the bleachers, who cheer on the Sharks, the Toros, the Pirates, the Volunteers, or the Indians. But the cheering waits for another season; the only voice heard was the river whispering in the willows.

The father stood by home plate on Benny Field. Somehow, the age and strength of his sons had shortened the fences. Though certainly he could no longer hope to drive the long ball into the river, his sons could. That was comforting. For a moment, an ineffable sweetness surrounded the park: the fierce energy of competition gone for a while, but the hope and joy of youth in its yearning remained, settled in the dappled light, carried on the scented air, spoken gently by the soft voice of the river and the gentle rustle of the leaves.

portion of the window. She saw a man exposing his genitals. She yelled and he fled. Her husband went out front but did not find anybody.

Second Watch: Palmer, Calzada, Oliver, Treger, Duval.

* A woman on Southbank Road, Carmel Valley reported being harassed by a neighbor over an animal. The neighbor said he went to her house to let her know that her dog came into his yard and bit off one of his dog's toes. The vet's bill is $133. This occurred on 12-12-95 between 3 and 4 p.m.

* A landlord on Stewart Place, Carmel reported a tenant who left, taking items from the unit with him.

Eulogizing criminals is nothing new in American literature, film or tv. Americans have had an uncommon adoration for those who defy government and the rich since well before our nationhood.

Where this enchantment is rooted may lie in the simple human reverence for people who strike out against any capricious wealth or unjust government action.

Seldom do we remember or immortalize the "lawmen" who chased them, died in pursuit or actually killed or captured these hero thugs.

One incendiary in the window of a token changer in a New York subway is light fare when matched against the early antics of Al Capone.

Drive-by shootings are as American as apple pie. We have spent billions of dollars and millions of hours reading and watching the performances of killers from Jesse James and the Ford brothers through John Dillinger and Bonnie and Clyde Barrow. We do not even pause to think about the innocent bystanders maimed or killed in the drive-by shootings or the uninvolved people wasted by the police in pursuit from Pinkerton to Keystone to LAPD.

In some perverse way America likes the heroics of criminals and the heroics of uncivilized rough dirty hairy style cops.

Bob Dole, one of our Kansas Senators, was a long way off the mark when he took aim at the movie, "Money Train". If he is concerned about the cultural impact of popularizing crime, he needs to head back to Kansas and raise hell about the wild west monuments to thugs there.

This is America. Did you laugh when Bobby Kennedy, whose grandfather made "the family fortune" smuggling booze during prohibition and later shipping contraband material to Hitler, decided to attack "organized" crime? Did you give a thumbs up to James Hoffa, Jr. in his bid to take over his father's Teamster's Union?

Gangs are not new. Ride-by shootings are not new. Harm to innocent bystanders is not new. Each ethnic wave of immigrants to America has engaged in violent thuggery to establish control of their turf, beginning with the first English settlers and Spanish conquistadors.

What is the difference between a group of Virginia gentlemen riding through an Indian village shooting randomly and a Salinas gang driving by taking aim at a perceived rival?

What is ironic that in this decade, as we watch violent crime falling rapidly, there is so much chest-beating about crime in movies, media and news.

It is very hard to condemn the want-to-be thugs of today, while we worship the thugs of the past. The moral contradiction defies reason.

WHAT'S NEXT? Mel Vercoe

I identify myself, sometimes, with a cartoon character called the Born Loser, for my unique ability to espouse losing causes. I thought, recently, that I had a chance of winning my four year battle to save the Salinas Valley from seawater intrusion.

It's a long, dull story, but a few months ago I thought our county officials were going to agree, that reduction in pumping was a necessary ingredient, but alas, we're now back to the standard "adopt any project and spend any amount of money, but don't even talk about reducing pumping." So I lost, and the people in the Salinas Valley lost.

As a Marine Corps veteran of WW2, I had strongly opposed our paranoia instigated Viet Nam war, and now, 22 years later, I'm also opposed to our getting into a Presidential election instigated second Viet Nam. I call it Viet Nam II. Our President likes to call it a peace mission. All of my letters to people in Washington, and to newspapers, and main wheels in foreign countries were a waste of time.

Even our peaceful looking Senator Feinstein and Sam Farr, neither of whom will be wearing uniforms in Bosnia, think Bosnia is a great place to demonstrate our World Policeman abilities. I've given up wondering why organizations using the word "peace" in their title take no interest in this issue. So, Born Loser Mel has lost this one, too.

The moral of the story - if at first you don't succeed, give up. But I find giving up unacceptable. When our body count figures start coming back from Viet Nam II in Bosnia, Born Loser Mel will be bugging, day after day, the people in Washington (and here) who made this utterly stupid war possible. I don't want our voters (most of whom are themselves mighty quiet) to forget how it all came about.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I have just read your excellent essay in "As the River Runs" in the November 30 "Sun". It is a frank and honest appraisal of the situation which finds our elected representatives becoming increasingly subservient to socialist minded or mindless bureaucrats. Unfortunately your words will be read by too few of a large unknowing or unconcerned public.

For three years I have been writing and talking about the purely political/academic drive to establish a large second level university at Fort Ord, without regard to lack of need for another second level university in this state, and particularly, on this out of the way agricultural-recreational peninsula.

So, we share concerns about the out of control practice of government employees, at all levels, influencing or deciding the funding of projects which they favor for political or personal reasons. It is said that over 51% of the nation's population is dependent upon government money for livelihood so that the remaining 49% can now be outnumbered on any issue.

We can turn our minority to an effective majority by informing the too

Phelps and Jarvis join to support Right to vote on taxes initiative

A proposed initiative to require voter approval of new, increased or extended life local taxes has received official approval to begin circulation of petitions. The measure, a proposed state constitutional amendment, also would require voter approval of property based assessments, fees and other charges prior to their being imposed.

Proponents of the measure are Lee Phelps, founder of the Aptos based Alliance of California Taxpayers & Involved Voters (ACTIV); Joel Fox, President, Howard Jarvis Taxpayer Association (HJTA); and Richard Gann, President, Paul Gann Citizens' Committee (PGCC).

Called the "Right to Vote on Taxes Act" by proponents, the measure would give voters in counties, cities and special districts the constitutional right to make use of the initiative to reduce or repeal local taxes, assessments, fees and charges, in addition to the new voter approval requirements already cited.

Proponents will have until late April of next year to get the 693,230 registered voter petition signatures necessary to appear on the November, 1996, general election ballot.

"This initiative is intended, once and for all, to force local government officials to seek and obtain the approval of taxpayers before imposing new financial burdens upon already hard pressed working people and retirees," Phelps said.

Petitions and information about the initiative campaign may be obtained from ACTIV at P. O. Drawer 330, Aptos, Ca. 95001-0330 or by telephone at 688-8986.

Water Board seats three new members

Three Board members of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) - one incumbent and two new members - were sworn in for four year terms. Representing Division 4 (Pacific Grove and portions of Pebble Beach) is incumbent Jim Hughes, a Pacific Grove dentist, who has served on the Water Board for the past 8 years.

The new representative for Voter Division 3 (Monterey and portions of unincorporated Monterey County) is Robert Ernst, an attorney who practices in Salinas. Voter Division 5 (Carmel, Carmel Valley and portions of Pebble Beach and unincorporated Monterey County) is now represented by Richard Ely, a retired Army Corps of Engineers Colonel who now owns the Carmel Valley Coffee Roasting Company.

The MPWMD is comprised of seven members - five who are elected directly and two who are appointed by the Mayors' Select Committee (Sand City Mayor David Pendergrass) and the Monterey County Board of Supervisors (Sam Karas), respectively. Other directors elected in 1993 include Darlene Burkleo, representing Voter Division 1 (Seaside/Fort Ord), and Lou Haddad, representing Division 2 (Sand City, Del Rey Oaks, Monterey Peninsula Airport District and portions of Seaside, Monterey and unincorporated Monterey County).

SPCA has smart alternative to giving pets for Christmas

Now is the time that shoppers are looking for the perfect holiday gift for their loved ones and friends, but the SPCA of Monterey County says keep pets off your gift giving list.

"Don't believe the hype from big time breeders or stores that sell dogs and cats. Pets aren't the perfect gift", says Maia Carroll, spokeswoman for the SPCA. "Choosing whether to have a pet and what kind is a very personal decision. Companion animals are intelligent creatures capable of great affection, not inanimate objects like a sweater or a pair of shoes that can be returned or discarded if unwanted. Sadly, in the months after Christmas, our shelter workers see many such holiday gifts, puppies or kittens who may have outgrown their cuteness and whose owners are facing the responsibility that comes with pet ownership, such as vaccinations, training and spaying or neutering their animal."

Instead of giving a pet as a gift, the SPCA suggests:

Give the gift of choice by purchasing an adoption gift certificate from the SPCA so that the friend can choose the pet just right for them.

Buy the basics to help out a new pet owner, such as collars and leashes, bowls, food or toys.

Give a gift certificate for obedience lessons for a new dog owner, they'll love you for it.

The SPCA does not allow gift adoptions, and discourages impulse holiday adoptions by closing adoptions several days prior to Christmas. Those wishing to adopt an animal during that time can pick up their pet on December 26th.

The SPCA of Monterey County is an independent, donor supported humane society. The shelter on Highway 68, across from Laguna Seca, is open 8-5 weekdays, 8-4 on weekends. The SPCA will be closed Christmas Day. For more information about adoptions or any SPCA service call 422-4721 or 373-2631.

Valley Fire District gives holiday safety hints

The December holiday season rapidly approaches on wings of song and good cheer. With all the activity, few pause to think about holiday safety.

The Monterey County Safe Kids Coalition and the National Safe Kids campaigns suggest the following tips to keep your holiday season healthy and happy:

Christmas trees: look for a fresh Christmas tree if you choose to buy a natural tree. Fresh trees are less likely to catch fire than are older trees.

Keep your tree in a full container of water, check it daily.

Keep the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, radiators or heating vents.

Decorate your tree with children in mind. Do not put breakable ornaments, ornaments with small detachable parts or ornaments that look like food on the lower branches where small children can reach them.

Dispose of your tree quickly after the holidays.

Never burn Christmas tree branches, treated wood or wrapping paper in your fireplace.

Consider buying a fire resistant artificial tree.

Beware of trees treated to look like they are covered with artificial snow. Children may think the flocking is powdered sugar.

Lights and Candles:

Decorate your trees using only UL approved lights and cords. Use no more than three strings of lights on one extension cord.

Turn off the tree lights when you go to bed or leave the house.

Keep burning candles, matches and lighters out of children's reach.

Poisons: Keep poisonous plants out of reach. Some poisonous holiday plants are Amaryllis, Azalea, Boxwood, Castor Bean, Christmas Cactus, Christmas Rose, Crown of Thorns, English and American Ivy. Also, Holly and Mistletoe berries are poisonous.

"I don't care, George! I want to have a yard sale!"

"I told you a thousand times, Mom! Make sure nothing else was planned for the church hall during my reception!"

Few would argue the fact that Christmas is a huge commercial event. Retailers anticipate as much as 80% of their annual revenue occurs at Christmas, though that may now be shared by massive campaigns for Valentine's Day (heart shaped boxes of chocolates), Easter (heart shaped chocolate eggs), Mother's Day (heart shaped little somethings) and Father's Day (heart shaped necktie designs). That takes us to the Fourth of July and blow up sales decorated with stars and stripes. Next year we'll have a limitless range of pins, T-shirts, sweatshirts, socks, jackets, hats, caps, eyeshades, pocket knives, key rings, cigarette lighters, mugs, paperweights, decals, bumper stickers, banners, tote bags, little somethings and neckties...all with the Olympic logo on them. Then the Back to School sales, and then the Day after Thanksgiving Sale which starts the Christmas selling season followed by the Clearance Sale, the Tire Bonanza Sale, the White Sale... and then it's Valentine's Day again.

Imagine the IRS staging its Annual Internal Revenue Event as a sale. Red, white and blue 1040 and 1040-EZ fliers go in the mail after St. Patrick's Day, in dayglo wrappers bearing the IRS logo and emblazoned with "File now and save". Sprinkled among the instructions will be the bonus coupons for early filers and magnetized ATM coded labels for the electronically gifted. If that works, the following year they'll add a computer disk for the new interactive, "Hunt the Evaders" game, with music by The Swinging Doors and a list of prizes for high scorers.

The upshot of it all is we Americans are spending more and saving less than we used to, and then we share our incomes with government leaders so they can do the same.

This Christmas eve, it might prove a worthy challenge to pick a star in the sky and follow it for a year, like three wise men did almost two thousand years ago. Check the star at night, stay on track, pay the tolls along the way, keep a journal of the trip, and see if we can arrive at our destination without commercial distractions. If companionship or a guide would be nice, we can seek out people who have been there and invite them to help us plan the trip, or even come along. Whether the star represents a financial goal or a personal aim or a social wish or a religious quest, all that matters is we follow it for a year. It has been a wondrous adventure before...why not again?

COMPUTER TALK

Guns and Bombs - ok. Naked bodies - no way.

For some years there has been just about everything imaginable about sex on BBS. No real on-line sex yet but slowly we're getting there. There are a few "hot" chat and "hot" pictures. Watch that pacemaker. Years ago BBS developed very good access security so peeping kids don't have a chance. With such precise control even individual files can be put "off limits" to all but an anointed few. Frequently BBS that charge for usage allow a visitor to get inside the door and look around. But to enter the holy of holies you must have a credit card ready and probably some kind of evidence that you are really over 18 or 21. It has been reported that high school students are frenetically looking for heavy gases in an attempt to lower the pitch of their voices. The very much "Johnny come lately" Internet is wide open and is now very much in the firing line with conservatives obsessed by the horror of naked bodies and liberals about do-it-yourself information kits on bombs and guns. The most profitable commercial BBS appear to be those focussing on pornography, eroticism and gaming, though chat is moving up in the league.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about BBS, and this has not extended to the Internet, is the fact that the field is so completely dominated by males. Typically at conferences the ratio of men to women is about ten to one. It is true that women generally tend to be less technically oriented than men, but nevertheless these figures are astonishing. In the computer field generally fewer women tend to be

REAL ESTATE REPORT

Carol Jensen Root

The following real estate sales were reported for the period of November 10, 1995 through November 18, 1995:

Pebble Beach

Douglas and Shelly Wong sold to Lawrence and Barbara Hirst 2888 Galleon Road on November 13, 1995 for $390,000.

Albam Ag sold to Pacific Invest. Inc. 4012 El Bosque Drive on November 14, 1995 for $465,000.

Carmel

Michael Freed sold to Bradley and Patricia Beegle a property on 4th Avenue on November 13, 1995 for $355,000.

Ray and Suzanne O'Neal sold to Judith Reibel a property on San Carlos Street on November 13, 1995 for $399,000.

Guillermo Gravier sold to Carol Schultz a property on Monte Verde and 10th on November 14, 1995 for $705,000.

Dennis and Carol Dutro sold to Albemarie Assoc. a property on Dolores Street on November 15, 1995 for $485,000.

Nicole Rude-Colletto sold to David and Melissa Brand Grebow a property on Santa Fe Street on November 16, 1995 for $342,500.

Carmel Valley

Housekey Financial Corp. sold to Quita Martin a property on Meadow Place on November 13, 1995 for $88,195.

Helen Rose sold to Henry and Mary Benech 49 Paso Mediano on November 15, 1995 for $195,000.

involved but the ratio is nothing like ten to one.

Most of the early BBS were DOS type, i.e., text based and no graphical material was available. Graphics were added later but the systems were still mainly text. Furthermore, many of these early ones were very confusing to use and it took quite a while to become familiar. Some asked ambiguous questions and, unless the right answer was offered, one was stuck. Often callers simply pulled the plug on the phone line in disgust and frustration, ignoring the instruction to use Bye or Quit to logoff. If they had to pay for a long distance telephone call the disgust and frustration were further amplified. Windows based BBS have appeared in the past year and these make navigation extraordinarily simple and a real joy. Next week we will look at some business uses of BBS.

The Sun's Real Estate Dictionary

CC and Rs (Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions): Limitations placed on the use and enjoyment of real property. These are found most often in condominiums and planned unit developments.

Chain of Title: A chronological list of recorded instruments tracing title to land, from the original owner to the present owner.

Cap: The maximum which an adjustable rate mortgage may increase, regardless of index changes.

Clear Title: Title to property which is free from liens, defects or other encumbrances.

Closing: The process of completing a real estate transaction during which the seller delivers title to the buyer in exchange for payment of the purchase price. Called a "settlement" in some areas.

Closing Costs: Expenses, beyond the selling price, such as loan fees, title fees, etc. Paid when documents are executed and/or recorded and the sale is complete.

Closing Statement: A summary, in the form of a balance sheet, showing the amounts of debits and credits to which each party to a real estate transaction is entitled upon closing.

Cloud on Title: Any document, claim, unreleased lien or encumbrance, which, if valid, would affect or impair title to a property.

Commission: Compensation due a real estate broker for acting on behalf of his principal.

Community Property: Property acquired during a marriage by either a husband or wife, or both, which is not separate property.

Comparables(comps.): An abbreviation for comparable properties used for comparative purposes in the appraisal process.

Consideration: A required element in all contracts by which something of value, including a promise, is exchanged for the act or promise of another.

Contingency: Action conditioned upon a certain event. Acceptance of the terms of a contract based on something else happening or certain conditions being met.

Conveyance: The transfer of title or an interest in real property by means of a written instrument such as a deed.

D - Deed of Trust: A security agreement creating a lien by which title to real property is transferred to a third-party trustee as security for an obligation owed by the trustor (borrower) to the beneficiary (lender).

The tax, based on sales price, less loans which are being assumed, which is charged by the city and/or county on the transfer of real property.

Due-on-Sale Clause: A clause in a mortgage loan which gives the lender the right to demand payment in full when the property changes ownership. Not applicable to FHA or VA loans.

E - Earnest money: The cash deposit paid by a prospective buyer as evidence of good faith to bind a sale of real estate.

Easement: A limited right or interest in land of another that entitles the holder of the right to some use, privilege or benefit over the land.

Encumbrance: A claim, right or lien upon real property, held by someone other than the owner.

Endorsement: A rider attached to an insurance policy to expand, explain, or limit coverage.

Equity: The value of a person's interest in real property after all liens and charges have been deducted.

Escrow: The process in which a disinterested third party holds money and documents for delivery to the respective parties in a transaction on performance of established conditions.

Exception: A provision in a title insurance binder or policy which excludes liability for a specified title defect or an outstanding lien or encumbrance.

F - Fair Market Value: An appraisal term for the price which a property would bring in a competitive market given a willing seller and willing buyer, each of whom has a reasonable knowledge of all pertinent facts, with neither being under any compulsion to buy or sell.

Fee Simple: An estate under which the owner owns a complete interest in the property and is entitled to the unrestricted use and enjoyment of the property, including the right to dispose of the property.

Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (FHLMC, Freddie Mac): A quasi-governmental agency that purchases conventional mortgages in the secondary mortgage market from depository institutions and Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) approved mortgage brokers.

Federal Housing Administration (FHA): A division of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Its main activity is the insuring of residential mortgage loans by private lenders.

Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA, Fannie Mae): A tax paying corporation created by Congress to support the secondary mortgage market. It purchases and sells residential mortgages insured by FHA or guaranteed by VA as well as conventional home mortgages.

Finance Charge: A total of all lending costs imposed directly or indirectly by the creditor and payable either directly or indirectly by the customer, as defined by the federal Truth-in-Lending laws.

First Mortgage: A mortgage on property that is superior in right to any other mortgage.

Fixed Rate Loan: A loan on which the same rate of interest is charged for the life of the loan.

Fixture: Personal property which is permanently attached to the real property, and, as such, becomes part of the real property.

G - Grant Deed: A type of deed in which the grantor warrants that he has not previously conveyed the estate being granted to another, that he has not encumbered the property except as noted in the deed, and that he will convey to the grantee any title to the property he may later acquire. Grant deeds are very common in California, especially where the buyer also receives a title insurance policy.

Grantee: One to whom a grant is made. The purchaser of real property.

Grantor: One who has made a grant. The seller of real property.

H - Hidden defect: An encumbrance on a title that is not apparent in the public records; for example, unknown heirs, secret marriages and forged instruments.

I - Impound Account: An account held by a lender for the payment of taxes, insurance or other periodic debts against real property.

Stilwell, Vice President, Pebble Beach Company, P. O. Box 1767, Pebble Beach, Ca. 93953. Phone 624-8900.

The Revised Draft EIR describes a range of alternatives to the Company's original location for a proposed new 18 hole golf course and 350 residential lots. (Original plans covered in April 6, 1994 Draft EIR). The November, 1995 Revised Draft EIR indicates that eight Alternative Plans were analyzed because of significant effects resulting from development of the proposed golf course in Subdivision No. 16, known as Pescadero "P/Q/R", bounded by Sunridge Road, Sunset Lane, Spruance Road, Midwood Lane, Del-Ciervo Road and 17-Mile Drive.

Alternative 2 has been selected by the County's EIR consultant as the "Environmentally Superior Alternative" location for a new 18 hole golf course and 350 residential lots. The Revised Draft EIR recommends moving the Equestrian Center and Collins Field to the upper and lower Sawmill Gulch sand borrow sites south of S.F.B. Morse Drive and the 5th Gate, to accommodate the proposed relocation for the golf course to an area between Peter Hay and Spyglass Hill golf courses.

The proposed Alternative 2 golf course would take in additional acres of land from Spyglass Hill golf course down to Ondulado Road between Forest Lake Road and Sombria Lane and the Cypress Point golf links. Major changes in roads and traffic flow are proposed.

Parts of Stevenson Drive, Spyglass Hill Road, Portola Road and all of Drake Road will be abandoned and become part of the proposed relocated golf course area.

The Alternative 2 plan also recommends the relocation of 91 proposed lots from the locations in the original plan to various subdivisions throughout the Forest.

The Company's proposal and the EIR consultant's revised Alternative 2 plan were discussed by Pebble Beach Company representatives at a workshop scheduled for December 13, 1995 at the Inn at Spanish Bay.

Please submit comments to the County with a copy to Pebble Beach Company prior to January 12, 1996.
